

CCA Serengeti Under Canvas Serengeti

This luxury, mobile camp moves around the Serengeti with the annual wildebeest migration providing truly luxurious accommodation in raw wilderness.

Serengeti Under Canvas has now been established for a few years and is a successful departure into new territory for them and is in following with the likes of Nomads and Sayari

Situated in the Serengeti, this group of camps are by far the most luxurious of the mobile safari options, with flush loos as en-suite and chandeliers in each tent. Each camp site is chosen along the route of the migration and is predicted to never be more than 30 minutes away from the action.

Moving with the Migration of the wildebeest herd, each of the three camps, with 6 tents in total, is organised into a main dining tent and lounge area, complete with books and antique furniture, each with private views into the bush, and the staff quarters where the butlers and guides retire in the evening.

From January to May the three camps all regroup down in the southern Serengeti as the Migration herd moves south to calve and feast on the new grass that arrives after the November rains. As the herd starts north again, the camps split in two, one group moving up to the very north to the Mara River close to the Tanzanian border, and the other to the Klein's Concession to the north East of the park.

- Just 6 ensuite luxurious tents.
- Location tracking the Migration.
- Remote Locations.
- Private Dining.
- Serengeti's most luxurious mobile tented camp.

Our View

The camps are well organised and each tent has been designed with cool and comfort in mind. With a bucket shower as standard this is still bush camping, but with the flamboyant extras that CCA seem to endow to all of their properties such as a flush loo and chandeliers.

The extras don't stop there with each tent being allocated a private butler and gazebo in which to have private suppers. The benefits of being located by the migration are obvious, the only drawbacks for us being the cost and the shared vehicles that CCAfrica have as standard.

So all in all if you are looking for the best possible way of seeing the migration without compromising on luxury then Serengeti Under Canvas is ideal.
